Social Skills Training Group for Teens

We are pleased to offer an evidence-based social skills training group for teenagers. The group is open to teens ages 14-17 who have been previously or newly diagnosed on the autism spectrum.

Topics will include:

- How to think and act like a friend
- Where to find friends
- How to improve communication
- How to make social plans

Parents will be invited to join us for part of four of the twelve sessions. We plan to start this group in September, but feel free to call now for a screening or to ask additional questions.
